Juliet Robertson offers tips and tricks to help any primary school teacher to kickstart or further develop their outdoor practice.

One of the keys to a happy and creative classroom is getting out of it and this book will give you the confidence to do just that. It contains a wealth of ideas and activities which ensure you provide a broad range of engaging outdoor experiences for your students. There is no need for expensive tools or complicated technologies: all you need is your coat and a passion for learning – oh, and you'd better bring the kids too! (Independent Thinking Press)

The pages are packed with creative ideas for active and engaging outdoor lessons that will help teachers bring the curriculum alive for their pupils. Simon Beames, University of Edinburgh
